

Train timetables are changing from 19 October

From Sunday 19 October 2025, Transport will make changes to some train services on the T1 Western, T8 Airport & South, Blue Mountains, Hunter and Central Coast & Newcastle Lines.

These changes are being introduced as part of a regular review of train services to improve services for passengers.

Some T1 Western Line services will make an additional stop at Granville, providing Granville passengers with an additional 185 services across the week.

As a result, minor adjustments will also be made to the departure times of some weekday off peak services for some stations between Richmond and North Sydney on the T1 Western Line.

On the T8 Airport & South Line, minor adjustments will be made to the departure times of two T8 Airport & South Line Wednesday afternoon services for consistency with other weekday services.

There will also be changes to departure times and departure platforms of some weekday services on the Hunter, Central Coast & Newcastle and Blue Mountains Lines.

All adjustments are minor but may mean some services arrive a little earlier or depart a little later.

The adjustments are part of a regular review of services by Sydney Trains and will be visible on transportnsw.info and travel apps from Sunday 5 October 2025.

We are communicating the changes to your school, so you can share the most up to date information with parents and would appreciate you distributing the attached Fact Sheet via your channels.

Students are encouraged to plan their trip before they travel at transportnsw.info/trip

To provide feedback on any Transport services, please visit:
transportnsw.info/contact-us/feedback

We hope this information assists.

Kind Regards
Transport for NSW

Transport
for NSW

Transport for NSW acknowledges the Aboriginal people of the country on which we work, their traditions, culture and a shared history and identity. We pay respects to Elders past and present and recognise the continued connection to country.